

GOD & CANCER

One Woman's Story of Living with Purpose
Despite Terminal Cancer

OCTOBER 15

7:00 PM

Leon Johnson Hall - MSU

JULIE GOSSACK, a local Bozeman woman, is living one of mankind's greatest fears--Stage 4 terminal cancer. Additionally, she is one of only a million people diagnosed each year with appendix cancer. Julie will speak candidly about her rare illness and what it is like to live each day with purpose and faith in God despite her grim prognosis. She will share personal thoughts from her recently published memoir, Whether By Life or By Death: Reflections for the Terminally Ill.
